The success of these training days is very much enhanced by open communication. In the first instance, it is key that attendees identify the areas that they wish to work on during the day so that we can match up the riding groups to best effect. Feedback from trainers to individual attendees will be verbal during the day, written feedback can also be given if requested by individuals. Verbal and written feedback from attendees to the training team will be very welcome.

Although we all take this event seriously we also want everyone to have a fun day of motorcycling. This is a great opportunity to meet with like-minded colleagues from across the region.

We look forward to seeing you!
